How to raise a complaint

There are a number of methods available to you to log a complaint:

By telephone

In the first instance, please contact our Customer Support team on 01482 680080.

It will also be beneficial if you can provide as much detail about your issue as possible to help us understand the root cause of the complaint and any suggestions you feel we can implement to fairly resolve the matter. If you have any reference that your issue relates to, please advise the representative.

The representative you speak to may ask you some questions for clarification and will be happy to look into any issues you raise with the intent of providing a resolution to the matter as efficiently as possible.

What happens next?

We will take the details of your complaint; investigate and advise you of our findings. Our intention is to look to resolve any problems that you may have experienced within the allowed guidelines as quickly as possible.

Open Fibre will endeavour to keep you updated at regular intervals whilst your issue is being investigated. We always try to solve any problems from the first communication, whether that is a phone call, email, or upon receiving a letter; however, we know that isn't always possible.

Regardless of the method you used to raise your complaint with us, we will endeavour to resolve at source with email or written confirmation to follow.

For any complaint that cannot be resolved at source, we will seek to investigate the matter and respond within 10 days of notification of your complaint with an initial finding and where possible, a proposed resolution.

If, once your complaint has been resolved, we have identified any improvements which can be made to our service, we will endeavour to implement them within the allowed guidelines.

Escalations

We politely ask for your patience whilst we carry out the initial investigation into the issues you have raised.

However, you may request that your complaint be escalated to our Complaints Team by any of the above contact methods. Our dedicated Complaints Team will undertake a full investigation of all aspects of your account and the circumstances relating to your complaint.

We aim to resolve or propose a resolution of all complaints received by the Complaints Team within 10 working days. On occasion, the Complaints Team will need additional time to investigate all aspects of a complaint and any claims made with supporting evidence. This process can take up to eight weeks.

'Final Position' Escalations

If the investigation into your complaint has been completed within the eight-week period, and we have been unable to agree a reasonable resolution, where appropriate, Open Fibre will advise you of our 'Final Position'. At this point, subject to their eligibility criteria, we will provide you with the details of the Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR Scheme) for you to consider if you wish to refer your complaint to the ADR scheme.

Escalations at Eight Weeks

If eight weeks have passed since your initial complaint and no reasonable agreement has been reached; subject to their eligibility criteria; we will provide you with the details of the Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR Scheme) for you to consider if you wish to refer your complaint to the ADR scheme.

Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) – CISAS: Communications & Internet Services Adjudication Scheme

Certified by Ofcom, CISAS provides an independent, free of charge service to customers who are not satisfied with the resolution of their complaint which meets the eligibility criteria.

You can utilise this service if your complaint is unresolved after eight weeks of first contacting us, or if you have been sent a 'Final Position' letter. You should submit your claim by downloading the form on the CISAS website.
